Reference & User Services Quarterly

The Journal of the Reference and User Services Association (RUSA)

RUSA Members as of April 2018: 3,036

Readership
Reference & User Services Quarterly readers are librarians employed by academic, public, and special libraries. They include reference librarians, administrators, public services librarians, interlibrary loan librarians, business information specialists, bibliographers, and consultants. Most Reference & User Services Quarterly readers hold membership in the Reference and User Services Association (RUSA) and the American Library Association.

Web Advertising Policy
RUSQ is now an online-only publication. Advertisers communicate their message via the journal's website at http://journals.ala.org/rusq.

Editorial
Established in 1960 as RQ, Reference & User Services Quarterly is the official journal of the Reference and User Services Association of the American Library Association. Its purpose is to disseminate information of interest to reference librarians, information specialists, and other professionals involved in user-oriented library services. Articles written by professionals in the field and refereed by a panel of active practitioners address the day-to-day concerns of information processing. Each issue includes substantive reviews of new reference books and professional materials.

Readership engagement with the publication is high. The typical recipient has read all four of the last four issues, spending 49 minutes looking through each one.
